Articles in The New Palgrave Dictionary of Economics written by Nobel Laureates

George Akerlof (2001)
identity

Maurice Allais (1988)
Allais paradox
economic surplus and the equimarginal principle
Roy, René François Joseph (1894-1977)

Kenneth Arrow (1972)
Arrow’s theorem
Hotelling, Harold (1895-1973)
economic theory and the hypothesis of rationality

R J Aumann (2005)
game theory

Gary S Becker (1992)
family

James M Buchanan Jr (1986)
public debt
opportunity cost
constitutional economics

Ronald H Coase (1991)
Plant, Arnold (1898-1978)

Angus Deaton (2015)
consumer’s expenditure
Stone, John Richard Nicholas (1913)

Gerard Debreu (1983)
existence of general equilibrium
mathematical economics

Peter A Diamond (2010)
search theory

Milton Friedman (1976)
Laughlin, James Laurence (1850-1933)
Newcomb, Simon (1835-1909)
quantity theory of money
Clive Granger (2003)
forecasting
spurious regressions
causal inference
spectral analysis

Lars Peter Hansen (2013)
James Heckman
generalized method of moments estimation

John Harsanyi (1994)
bargaining
interpersonal utility comparisons
value judgements

Oliver Hart (2016)
incomplete contracts

James Heckman (2000)
Roy model
selection bias and self-selection

Leonid Hurwicz (2007)
Koopmans, Tjalling Charles (1910-1985)

Leonid Kantorovich (1975)
functional analysis

Wassilyevich Leontief (1983)
input-output analysis

Harry Markowitz (1990)
mean-variance analysis

Dale T Mortensen (2010)
labour market search

Roger Myerson (2007)
Harsanyi, John C. (1920-2000)
mechanism design
revelation principle

Elinor Ostrom (2009)
tragedy of the commons

Edmund Phelps (2006)
golden rule
Phillips curve
distributive justice
equilibrium: an expectational concept
Edward Prescott (2005)
calibration

Alvin E. Roth (2012)
mapping and market design

Paul Samuelson (1970)
Sraffian economics
Wicksell and neoclassical economics

Thomas Schelling (2005)
value of life

Thomas J. Sargent (2011)
rational expectations
self-confirming equilibria

Robert J. Shiller
expectations

Herbert Simon (1978)
rationality, bounded Evans, Griffith Conrad (1887-1973)
behavioural economics
causality in economic nodals
satisficing

Christopher Albert Sims (2011)
continuous and discreet time models
multivariate time series models

Vernon Smith (2002)
experimental methods in economics
experimental methods in economics (ii)
hunting and gathering economies
experimental economics
auctions

George Stigler (1982)
competition
Knight, Frank Hyneman (1885-1962)
Wood, Stuart (1853-1914)

Joseph Stiglitz (2001)
principal and agent
sharecropping
Jean Tirole (2014)

James Tobin (1981)
financial intermediaries
Fisher, Irving (1867-1947)
money
Okun, Arthur M. (1928-1980)